Pathways to Success

Gayle Geffner £12.99 + p&p

Using her unique '3 charts' method, the author shows you how to find out which job suits you best, and how to take advantage of transits to make the change. Whether you are planning a job change, a new career, or simply want more fulfillment in your current position, this book should help you find the answers you need. Suitable for all levels of astrologer

Five Medieval Astrologers

ed. by James Holden
£12.99 + p&p

Here's a delight for students of classical astrology. This book contains the first comprehensive publications of the astrological treatises of Albumasar (Book of Flowers), Ptolemy (Centiloquy), Hermes Trismegistus (Centiloquy), Bethen (Centiloquy), Almansor (One Hundred and Fifty Propositions).

The Dawn of Astrology

Nick Campion £30.00 + p&p

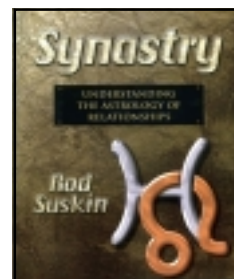

Part 1 of a 2 volume set. Nick Campion explores how astronomy and astrology have served humanity from prehistoric times to the 21st century; its breadth is amazing, and it is probably the only book you will ever need on this subject. Beautifully produced in hardback to grace any bookshelf.

Synastry

Rod Suskin £17.99 + p&p

Interesting addition to the synastry department. This book has a good section on dealing with the ethics of relationship issues in consultation, and also defining when a relationship is likely to happen, and when it may end.

Planets in Play

Laurence Hillman £13.99 + p&p

This is a nice mixture of serious and flippant. The idea of presenting planets as personalities is far from new, but there is the opportunity here for deep reflection on the way the planets 'behave' in your life. Suitable for all levels of astrologer.

Mercury Retrograde

Chrissie Blaze £9.99 + p&p

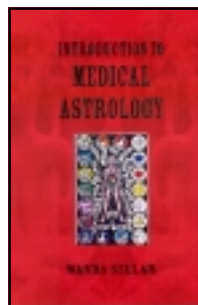

Having just recovered from Mercury Rx in Gemini, I firmly believe we need a survival guide in these times; this book is an excellent aid. As the author puts it, this is a chance to review, revisit, re-examine, rethink and re-boot!

Raphael's 2009 Ephemeris now available £4.99 + p&p
